Thank You to Our 2021 HLRP Reviewers

Michael K. Paasche-Orlow, MD, MA, MPH

The success of HLRP: Health Literacy Research and Practice is only made possible with quality submissions and quality reviewers. The pandemic has been a preposterously pernicious period, and yet, it has also been a boon for health services research and scientific scholarship. Secluded to your studies, or wherever you have been working in “zoomlandia,” you have not been idle! Authors and reviewers have been hard at work. Thank you for the effort.

The list of our peer reviewers this year is presented below and the 10 highest-rated reviewers are identified with an asterisk. As we do each year, it is our pleasure to honor each of these colleagues with donations to an adult literacy program in Boston, Massachusetts.

Certainly, the review process is a taxing and uncompensated effort. On behalf of the journal and the Editorial Board, we write to appreciate your work and publicly acknowledge the effort. We could not do this without you. Please be in touch if you would like to become a reviewer for the journal. Thank you.

Michael K. Paasche-Orlow, MD, MA, MPH, is the Editor-in-Chief, HLRP: Health Literacy Research and Practice, and a Professor of Medicine, Boston University School of Medicine and Boston Medical Center.

© 2022 Paasche-Orlow; licensee SLACK Incorporated. This is an Open Access article distributed under the terms of the Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial 4.0 International (https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc/4.0). This license allows users to copy and distribute, to remix, transform, and build upon the article non-commercially, provided the author is attributed and the new work is non-commercial.

Address correspondence to Michael K. Paasche-Orlow, MD, MA, MPH, Department of Medicine, Boston University School of Medicine, 801 Massachusetts Avenue, 2nd Floor, Boston, MA 02118; email: mpo@bu.edu.

Disclosure: The author has no relevant financial relationships to disclose.
doi:10.3928/24748307-20211206-02